PRESS RELEASE · 9 SEPTEMBER 2026

Menú de Hoy launches: the first app dedicated to the menú del día in Mallorca

Free, ad-free and in three languages, it already brings together more than 130 bars and restaurants on the island

Palma, 9 September 2026. Where shall I eat today, and what's on? Menú de Hoy (menudehoy.app) is a free, Mallorca-made app that answers that question: it shows the set lunch menus currently on offer at the island's bars and restaurants, with dishes, price and opening hours, and lets you filter by distance, town, price or type of dish. It works in Spanish, Catalan and English and carries no advertising.

Unlike the big review and booking platforms, Menú de Hoy focuses exclusively on the menú del día, the everyday lunch of thousands of residents, and on a purely local area: Mallorca. At launch it already covers more than 130 establishments, from Palma to the Part Forana. Every day it publishes the menú del día of around 80 of them, and more than 60 update theirs daily or weekly.

For the restaurant, one photo is enough. Publishing a menu is free and requires no wrestling with technology: the establishment photographs its chalkboard or daily menu and the app transcribes the dishes and translates them automatically into the three languages. It can also manage menu templates, prices by day and alerts to regular customers, who get a notification when their favourite restaurant publishes.

Group menus. The app also includes a section for group and celebration menus, for company, family or friends' meals, so establishments can showcase what they offer for large bookings: today, 60 venues and more than 200 group menus.

"The menú del día is everywhere in Mallorca, but it often means walking past several places to see what's on before deciding, let alone when there are a few of you. Having them all on your phone, being alerted when your bar publishes its menu and being able to send the group a poll on where to eat today makes it all much simpler."

— Miguel Titos Ramis, creator of Menú de Hoy

Availability. Menú de Hoy is free. For iPhone it is available on the App Store. On Android it is in early access: anyone who wants to use it leaves their email at menudehoy.app and receives a link to install it from Google Play; the open release on Google Play will follow in the coming weeks.
