

MenúdeHoy

PRESS RELEASE · 5 OCTOBER 2026

Menú de Hoy, Mallorca's menú del día app, arrives on Android and now brings together some 200 bars and restaurants

Free and in three languages, it lets you search for what you fancy, vote with friends on where to eat and, for restaurants, publish the menu with a photo over WhatsApp

Palma, 5 October 2026. Where shall I eat today, and what's on? Menú de Hoy (menudehoy.app), the free, Mallorca-made app that brings together the set lunch menus of the island's bars and restaurants, with dishes, price and opening hours, is now on Android too: since last Friday, 2 October, it can be downloaded from Google Play, as it already could from the App Store for iPhone. It works in Spanish, Catalan and English.

Less than a month after its launch, the app already covers some 200 establishments, from Palma to the Part Forana. Every weekday it publishes the menú del día of around a hundred of them, plus more than 280 group menus and 26 tasting menus. And if a diner misses their usual bar, they can suggest it from within the app.

Search for what you fancy. As well as filtering by distance, town or price, just type "meat", "fish" or even "fish with vegetables" to see which of today's menus have it. Anyone who marks their favourite bars gets an alert as soon as they publish their menu.

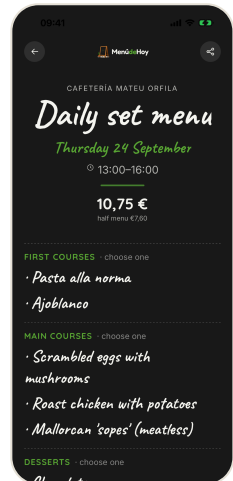

Decide as a group, without arguing. For a meal with colleagues, friends or family, the app lets you pick several menus and share a poll over WhatsApp: everyone votes, whether or not they have the app, and the most voted wins.

For restaurants, one photo over WhatsApp. Publishing is free and there is nothing to install: the establishment sends a photo of its chalkboard over WhatsApp and, with one tap to confirm, the menu is published, transcribed and translated into the three languages. From the app it can also manage templates, prices and alerts to regular customers.

Group menus, in time for Christmas. With company lunches and end-of-year dinners just around the corner, the groups section brings together more than 280 menus from more than 80 restaurants, with their price per person, and lets you request a quote without leaving the app.

"The menú del día is everywhere in Mallorca, but it often means walking past several places to see what's on before deciding, let alone when there are a few of you. Having them all on your phone, being alerted when your bar publishes its menu and being able to send the group a poll on where to eat today makes it all much simpler."

— Miguel Titos Ramis, creator of Menú de Hoy

Availability. Menú de Hoy is free, both for diners and for restaurants. It is on the App Store for iPhone and, since 2 October, on Google Play for Android.

AT A GLANCE

What it is	Free app for Mallorca's menú del día, with group and tasting menus · Spanish, Catalan and English
Coverage	Some 200 bars and restaurants · around 100 with a menú del día every weekday · more than 280 group menus at more than 80 venues · 26 tasting menus
For diners	Search by what you fancy ("fish with vegetables") · alerts from favourites · WhatsApp polls to decide as a group · group quotes without phoning
For restaurants	Free · publish with a photo of the board, over WhatsApp or in the app · automatic transcription and translation · alerts to regular customers
Available	iPhone (App Store) · Android (Google Play, since 2 October 2026)
Who	Miguel Titos Ramis, software developer from Mallorca

Press contact

Miguel Titos · hola@menudehoy.app (I reply the same day) · Release, logos, screenshots and video in high resolution: menudehoy.app/prensa

Today's set menu, on your phone
menudehoy.app